LISTERMANIA

17/04/2018 | 6pm-9pm | Refreshments | Adults

Join us and some very special guests as we celebrate Joseph Lister and his world-changing medical innovation.

2018 marks 150 years since Lister delivered a public lecture on his theory of antiseptic surgery, in our Faculty Hall. Together with his articles in The Lancet of 1867, this lecture helped revolutionise medical science. Our Artist in Residence will be sharing poems inspired by Lister and Mr Pankaj Chandak will be discussing how Lister's work continues to influence today's surgeons. We're also delighted to welcome Dr Lindsey Fitzharris, author of The Butchering Art: Joseph Lister's Quest to Transform the Grisly World of Victorian Medicine, for a special Q&A.

Visualising Medical Heritage

Visualising
Medical
Heritage

Our Visualising Medical Heritage Project will bring medical history to life and enable enhanced access to our museum collection through cutting edge visualisation technology. Join us for a series of events where we will explore the different potentials of visualisation, combining medical history, science and the creative arts.
